

Over the next few months, Briarcliff will be transitioning to a new visitor management system called AccuShield.

To enhance safety, security, and support in the event of an evacuation, we are implementing a more structured sign-in and sign-out process.

All visitors will check in at the front desk using the kiosk and receive a printed badge, which must be worn while on the premises.

Residents will also use this system to check out when staying overnight away from the building.

Many senior living communities have successfully adopted similar systems, and we're confident this change will benefit our community as well. A detailed notice with further information will be shared with all residents prior to the system's launch.

Please begin to make your visitors aware that this change is coming.
